

Dogs

and Their Senses

Rear Window

In the film, a curious dog got a little bit too curious, ending up sniffing out some of the remains of Mrs. Thorwald.

There are many dogs that are paid to do that very job, as we humans don't have many of the abilities that dogs do.

Why dogs?

There was a dog that played an important, strong role in the film. Solving the murder!

It got us thinking about how dogs play an active role in all our lives.

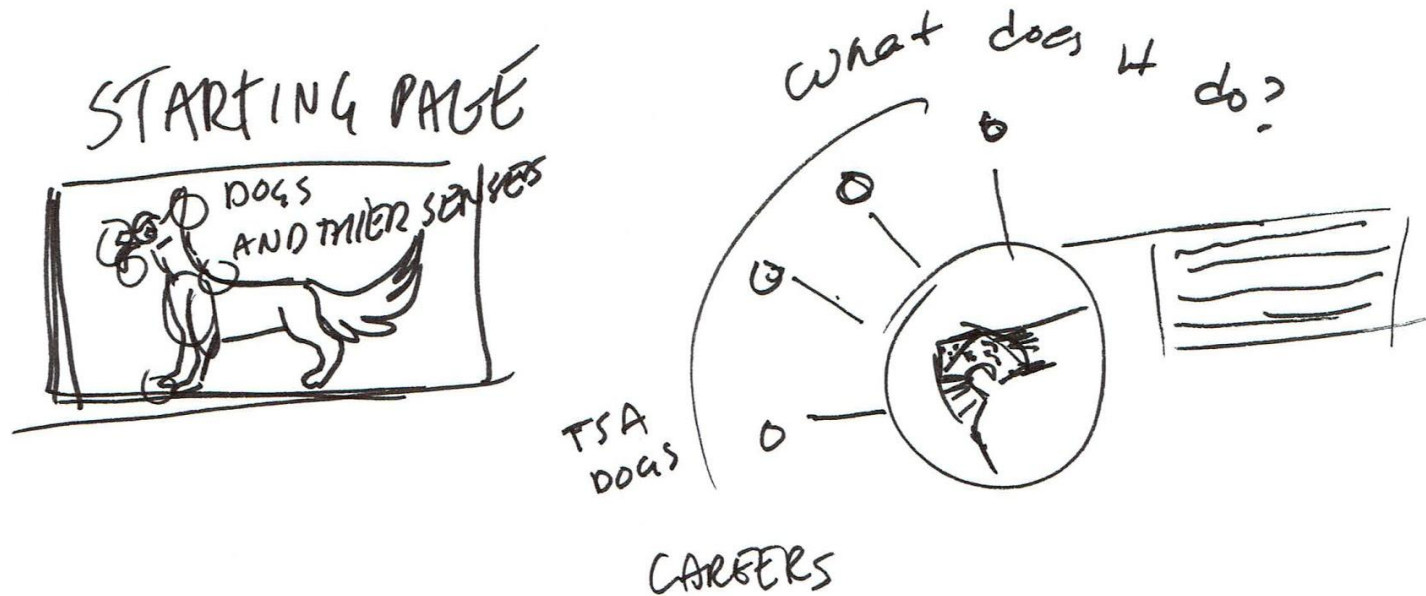

In our interactive browser

We hope to explore the way humans interact with dogs.

From your everyday dog to war dogs, they all have a different role. Sometimes these roles interchange- as we see in Rear Window.

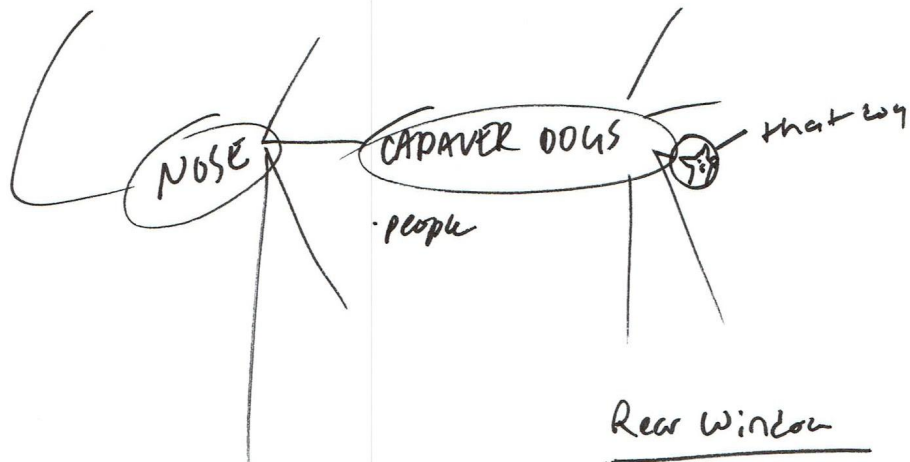

How we will do it

Our browser will open to an image of a dog, with places that you will have the ability to click, and zoom into more information about different clickable parts.

DOGS

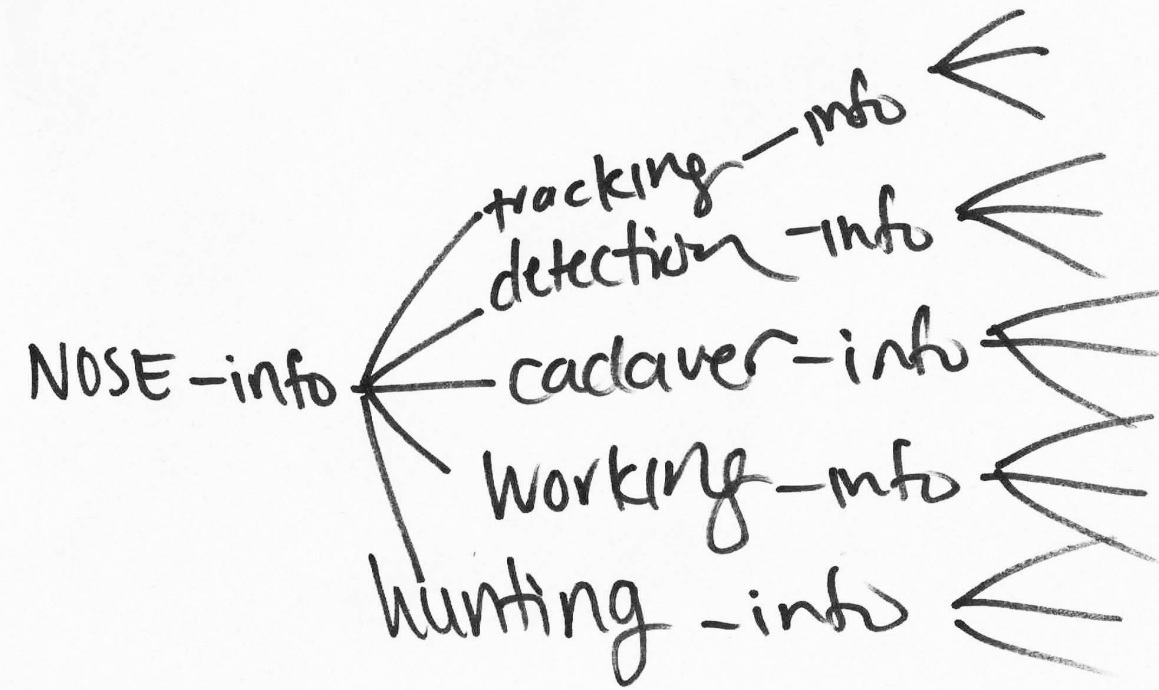

and their senses

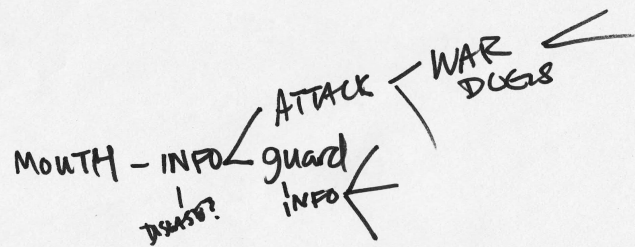

Rear Window

7pm about the dog.

For example, clicking on the dog's nose will bring you to multiple jobs that dogs use their nose the most to do.

If you click Cadaver Dogs, it would give you information about them and branch out into other sub categories such as dogs that have done this job, real or fictional.

The same would go for other body parts such as the ears, eyes, etc.

That's It